

HBSC

The Hot Butter Soul Collective (HBSC), who recently performed 5 songs live on the BBC Radio 2 Russell Brand show, is a contemporary London-based gospel choir, often featuring a human beatboxer (vocal percussionist), who can perform anything from traditional classics to modern covers. They can do this either with or without a PA.

It's charismatic members are sourced from the music industry where they work with artists such as Basement Jaxx, Madonna, Elton John, Gorillaz, Lionel Ritchie and Robbie Williams. Their principal beatboxer Lianhart recently starred in the hit musical 'Daddy Cool' and has performed on Radio 1 and with the RPO and the Bolshoi Ballet.

HBSC was created to perform bespoke repertoires for Selfridges in London, which they have done during every Xmas since 2005. Other clients include The Royal Academy of Arts, St. Pancras International, The Royal Yacht Hotel in Jersey and Covent Garden.

Their 'a capella' sound can move hearts, minds or feet with a repertoire and line-up that can be tailored to your event. They can provide anything from stunning 'centre-stage' performances to enchanting background singing.

HBSC pricing varies depending on whether a bespoke or standard repertoire is required, number of singers, whether or not a beatboxer is included, size of venue, travel distance, start and finish times and the nature of the function. Please note that when a beatboxer is present the range of songs that can be performed by the human voice is much increased. HBSC can also supply and collaborate with instrumental musicians if requested.

Re: choir @ Selfridges

To whom it may concern,

Dear Sir/Madam,

This is to confirm that Hot Butter Soul Collective performed in Selfridges on a number of occasions as part of our Christmas in-store music programme.

They were a great band to work with, very talented and fresh, and their performances were thoroughly enjoyed by our shoppers. I would highly recommend them and hope to work with them again next year.
